Habitat for Humanity Hosts Bocce Ball Tournament

Fundraiser for Habitat's House#85 on September 18

Habitat for Humanity of Sangamon County invites community members to participate in the "Building Walls with Wine Bocce Ball Tournament" on Sunday, September 18 at Walnut Street Winery in Rochester. The event is a fundraiser for Habitat's "House of Love – House #85," which is currently under construction in Springfield.

The bocce ball tournament will start at 1:00 p.m. on September 18 at Walnut Street Winery, 309 S. Walnut Street in Rochester, Illinois. The tournament is open to amateurs and experienced players. Tips on the game will be provided at the event for those who have not played before. There is a $200 prize for the winning team. The tournament is limited to twenty teams and pre-registration is required. Registration is $60 for teams of four players. To register, visit habitatsangamon.com or call Habitat at 217.523.2710.

Funds raised at the tournament will support "House of Love – House #85," a new decent and affordable home for Kelly Brock-Harris and her three children in Springfield. "I am so thankful for the community's support in helping to create a new home for my family," said Brock-Harris. The home is currently under construction and Kelly and her family will move into their new home in October.

For more information on registering for the tournament or on volunteering with Habitat, visit habitatsangamon.com or call 217.523.2710.
